Only yesterday the writer heard of a white female nurse who begged life, and may he speedily withdraw the hand to be relieved from the care of a patient that she might go to the care of an acquaintance, but to be retained in the employ of the Howards. There are other and even worse acts known and complained of, but these are enough for the present. These are irregularities that can be corrected without increasing the labors of those in charge of the depart ments, and by which daily expenses may be reduced hundreds of dollars.

Dr. Plunket has finished the ents, eight of which were whites and two work of forcing our people to ored. Total deaths to date, two hundred the condition of dependents upon id eighty-four. with that of the same day last year his dispatch printed elsewhere, that the done, and upon the assumption, as stated in germs might be conveyed to communities where the bales of cotton were reopened. No such thing occurred last year when nearly the entire cotton crop of the Mississippi valley was ginned and baled at a time when ley was ginned and baled at a time when every air of every city, town, village, hamlet and farmhouse in the entire valley was laden to a thickness that could almost be felt with the poisons of the most malignant plague that ever visited the American continent. The sugar crop was also prepared for market last year under the same circumstances, yet not a "germ," "fomite," or other febrile ovary has been heard of where the cotton or sugar were consumed. Dr. Plunket has no other labor to perform now, and can retire with the halo of his own conceited greatness surrounding his gifted brain; from which such grand conceptions emanated. How long must memphis be the viotim of these disastrous experiments? Is there no relief?

Ashville dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer, 2d: "A dispatch was published in this paper of the thirtieth of August, in which it was stated that the Mormens who had settled in this section of the State had been given notice to leave within thirty days or be summarily dealt with. Information reaches here to-night from Cherokee county, forty miles from here, to the effect that several converts had been made in that county by the disciples of the late Brigham Young. The people became so indignant at this that yesterday three of the women preachers were taken to the woods and flogged with hickory switches. Not content with this, several of the converts were caught and similar punishment inflicted upon them. The newly-made and the carpetbag Mormons were driven out of these disastrous experiments? Is there no relief?

EDITORS APPEAL—We feel it due to you and the public at large to lay before you, in part, the labors, duties and condition of the Howard association. When the fever first first broke out in July, we had a little over twenty thousand dollars in our treasury. About the twentieth of that month we entered upon active duty, districting the city, and putting at work one physician and one visitor in each district. Our duties have been very laborious, working us from early morn until late at night, and, despite our every effort, the fever has increased and spread until it has permeated the entire city. At the same time our expenses have steadily kept pace with the spread of the disease that is afflicting us, and we look with dismay to the fact that we have two long weary months yet before us, months of agony and horror, before we can hope for relief from our sufferings. We had fondly hoped that our funds on hand would have been sufficient to carry us through the tetrible ordeal we are passing; but so rapidly has the amount on hand been absorbed by our expenses, notwithstanding absorbed by our expenses, notwithstanding the exercise of the greatest economy, that we find ourselves once more compelled to appeal more beautifully transparent, none more vigorous and subtle in analysis, than General Clanton's, of Montgomery, Alabama. A man of a century was Clanton. With a profound legal knowledge he possessed a mind wonderfully astute. Ambitious to a degree, his pride of character was ever a stimulant to his centurity with the laddar.

"I didn't mean no harm, sho'!" whined the darky in the laddar.

"I don't speck you did, but den yo' mouf 'pears ter be sot on moughty loose hinges. Dis town hez got sartin rules ob ettiket, de frunt wun ob whom are dat yung niggers and furrin mokes mus' keep order when de ole fokes is passin' by."

Irability of th no concomitant circumstances connected with this murder that could possibly point to it as a personal feud. Nelson did his bloody work in fitteen mi utes after his introduction to Clanton, whom he knew to be a preminent Democrat, an indefatigable worker for his Clanton, which is considered to the Democrat, an indefatigable worker for his party, and a fearless advocate of its principles; while Nelson was intensely Radical as a partisan, hating the very name of southern Democracy. General Clanton would in discount of all true men the frauds perpetrated by the Radi-cal party in connection with the Mobile and Chattanooga railroad. So they slew him, and his murderer became a hero! No prophecies went out over the land then that this deed of blood would culminate in the downfall of the Radical party; no one intimated then that the whiz of the bullet that went to Clanton's brave heart would be the death-knell of liberty and constitutional government. But freedom shrieked when Dixon fell. In the reedom shrieked when Dixon fell. In the one case a Radical murdered a leading Democrat without the shadow of a cause, for they had not known each other a sufficent length of time to trump up a quarrel, in the other a Democrat kills a Radical after a hotly-contested campaign of a local pature had been coins. campaign of a local nature had been going on for months. Criminations and recrimina tions were unquestionably heard every day which too often terminate in personal insul of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure We all know what then. It is always bad Dekalb, Miss., September 2.—The Chisolm murder cases were called up to-day in the circuit court. The defendants moved to quash the indictment, but the motions were overruled. The State and defendants then announced themselves ready for trial, and special venires of seventy-five jurors were drawn in each case. The first to be tried is that of Henry Gully, for the murder of Miss Cornelia Chisolm, which is set for Friday. The other cases are to be tried next week. General Woodford will remain here until the close of the trial, but will take no part in the proceedings. He came as an escort for Mrs. Chisolm, a clerk in the treasury department at Washington, and a witness for the prosecution. The Chisolm Cases.
